

Constructed reference levels set the scale; relative rates come from the event tree.

